President's Report – Happy New Year!

Horst Sawatzki

How many New Year's resolutions did you make? Maybe you can get by without setting targets for 2006? I did plan to deal with that annual 'honey-do-list' by cutting it in half. I did plan to work out daily, and I did plan to check out the Golf shops for bargains. I tore into 2006 with gusto. I ripped the 'to-do' list in half, so that is done. I dusted and relocated the tread mill, and now I am reading and dreaming about those new drivers, putters, balls, and those inviting 'greens'.

OK! Let's get down to some serious business. Your Executive met on January 10-12, 2006.

Each member came prepared to deal with committee reports, liaison issues, plans for the 33rd AGM, and ready to adjudicate outstanding financial, benefits, or administrative issues. The outcome of committee and executive debate, recommendation and direction is summarized for you in each respective committee report.

I will steal a couple of highlights that I am very proud to share with you.

1. Special meeting of STS Chapter Presidents – November 24, 2005

The Summary comments on the meeting between Chapter Presidents and the Executive were very positive. Liaison between Chapters and your Provincial Executive moved from 'out there' to 'we count in the total scheme of things.' The Forward Planning Committee will be busy preparing for future joint meetings. The date, time, and agenda will be shared with Chapter Presidents as the plans fall into place.

2. STS Support Services Information Website

We had a sneak preview of the Website as it will be presented to you on February 1, 2006. Thanks to Dalton Tamney and Charlene Baron, you will be able to access this website with confidence and ease. The blue, underlined letters/numbers combination will be your key [click] where to find assistance or information about topics 'A' to 'Z' and a supplementary 'click' here and there, may take you to that 'aha' stage where your question will be answered.

This Information Website is only Phase I of our Short Term Action Plan. We now need to flesh it out by:

1. Identifying chapter personnel to assist members within the chapter! Did you forward your chapter liaison person's name and e-mail address to the STS office?
2. Planning Workshops – at the chapter or provincial level to take members from the limited computer-user-skills to that of a confident surfer.

3. Managing Change – keeping it current by sharing its strength, weakness, and/or redundancy with the Standing Committee on Support Services.

The documentation for our 33rd AGM is being compiled and prepared for mailing. Chapter Presidents, please forward all requested forms/correspondence in time so that all the plans for the AGM will be in place and your nominations, resolutions, and requests will be dealt with appropriately. Check the AGM committee report for specifics.

And now it's time to watch some football, or is it hockey? Either one will do.

The Prairie Ursuline Centre in Bruno is recruiting Canadian retired teachers for the public school system in cities and rural areas of China. It is paid work for a semester or a whole year. For more information, contact Randy Kehrig, Director of Business Development at the Prairie Ursuline Centre at (306) 369-4186.

Group Benefits Committee - January 2006 – Bert Gordon

Membership in the Benefit Plans continues to increase. As of February 1, 2006, 3095 members are participants in one or both of the plans. This is up from 2881 on July 1, 2005. There are 2421 Dental Contracts and 2523 contracts for the Extended Health Plan.

There have been some questions about the Drug Reimbursement Program that will come in to effect on April 1, 2006. Note: There will be NO drug prescription card. In fact, there will be no new or different card required. You will present your present card to your Pharmacist. You will pay the full cost of the prescription and the Pharmacist will submit your claim electronically. Your reimbursement will be mailed by Blue Cross, or you may elect to have it deposited into an account of your choice. Your pharmacists may decide not to become part of this plan, in which case you will submit your claims as you have in the past.

Extended Travel

The regular Health Benefits Plan provides medical coverage for the first 60 days of any trip provided there have been no major changes to your health in the 90 days prior to travel, and unless your doctor recommends that you do not travel. Extended travel insurance may be obtained from Blue Cross for a period up to an extra 123 days (183 days in total). When purchasing the extended coverage the Pre-Existing Condition parameters change to 180 days. It is preferable to have the extended coverage purchased prior to leaving on your trip, but it is mandatory to purchase it before the end of the first 60 days. If you return to your home province at any time, then leave again, that constitutes a new trip and the 60 day coverage is again in place.

Pre-Authorization

In most cases, pre-authorization for treatment or purchases is not required. Having said that let me add that, in most cases when you are faced with a costly purchase or procedure, it is in your own best interest to contact Blue Cross to ensure that the cost is covered and what the amount of the reimbursement will be. Have your medical or dental practitioner provide the appropriate information, and be very specific. All evaluations are based on standard Saskatchewan fee guides.

Claims

All claims must be submitted within one year of the event in order to be adjudicated for payment.

Research Project

MaryLynn Gagné, Education Liaison Librarian of the University of Saskatchewan is interested in contacting STS members for assistance with a research project regarding the School Aids and Text Book Publishing Co. Ltd which operated out of Regina from the 1930's through the 60's and early 70's. She would be interested in talking with individuals who may have used such publications as The Modern Instructor, The Adventures in Science series, The R.J. Staples Fun with Music series, and The Vitalized English textbooks by F.J. Gathercole, to name but a few. For more information call MaryLynn at 966-7639, fax her at 966-2444 or e-mail marylynn.gagne@usask.ca

Support Services Committee - Ernie Epp

The initial Ad Hoc Support Services committee developed a short term work plan with the development of a webpage as the first stage of this plan. The Support Services Data base and Website is now operational. Dalton Tamney presented a display of this webpage at the January 11th, 2006 meeting, and the committee approved it for placement on the internet by early February, 2006.

You will just need to go to the STS web site, click on Support Services, and a list of topics will appear on the left side of the page. Click on the one that you would like information about and it will take you to that site.

STF Post-Secondary Education Prizes for children of STF Members

In accordance with a resolution passed by Annual Council 2003, the Federation is offering ten (10) STF prizes in the amount of $1000 each to be awarded annually to children of teachers who are current, superannuated, or deceased members of the STF. Five (5) will be awarded as entrance prizes for post-secondary education, and five (5) for continuing post-secondary education.

Applications for the prizes must be received in the Saskatoon office of the STF by 5:00 p.m. on Friday, March 31, 2006. Faxed and e-mailed applications will not be accepted. Contact the following for application forms and information and also direct your completed applications to:

Saskatoon, SK S7J 2H8.
Telephone: 373-1660; Fax: 374-1122;
e-mail: admin@stf.sk.ca

A tremendous amount of work has been done to search out these sites and provide the links. Of course, this is a work in progress and always will be as new health related discoveries occur and new available health care services develop. These need to be entered into our database to keep it current and relevant.

Since our database lists many health care service sites, a concern regarding potential liability was raised. Legal consultation has been gained and the committee has come to understand that the intent and direction of the Support Services website and its links to other healthcare services are prudent and reasonable and that potential for litigation is indeed minimal. Dalton utilizes a general screen of criteria whereby the selection for inclusion of an available site is made. The importance of consulting with your family physician regarding some services and/or health conditions will also be accented in the site.

In terms of forward planning for 2006-2007, Support Services of STS still needs to get a Support Services contact person from each Chapter and it is expected that some inservice will be required for these contacts. In addition, part-time staff is to be contracted to support this website.

Doreen Lloyd — STS Past President

Our sincere condolences to Doreen Lloyd's family upon her passing January 23, 2006.

Doreen was recently presented with a Saskatchewan Centennial Medal by Myron Kowalsky, the speaker of the Legislature, who was acting on behalf of the Lieutenant-Governor, Lynda Haverstock. Doreen's daughter, Cheryl, and Bert Gordon witnessed the ceremony.

She's Done it Again !

Congratulations to Sylvia Birnie who at the venerable age of 100 has published her third book, Stories That Need To Be Told, a delightful "anthology" that includes: articles, poems and artwork by Sylvia; also, favourites she has collected through the years, plus prose and poetry written by her extended family and good friends. Sylvia's positive outlook on life radiates throughout whether it be in thoughts she has penned or in the reflections of family and friends.

Councillors' Report - Margaret Martin

Councillors will be attending the STF Spring Council to be held in Saskatoon on April 26 to April 29, 2006. This is the first year that Spring Council will be held at a time other than the week following Easter.

ACER-CART - The President's Comments

Well, we have survived another year – or you wouldn't be reading this!! I would like to extend my best wishes for an even better 2006.

You will be reading this during or just after the final stages of the federal election campaign. If nothing else, it has been an interesting campaign to observe. I often wonder where the leaders of the political parties get the energy to do what they do. I'm speaking of quantity, not quality. It doesn't appear that we will have a majority government this time around. However, who can tell?

For the past few months, ACER-CART has made representations to all of the three major parties with respect to issues we would like addressed in the next parliamentary session. We have initiated direct oral approaches to MPs and various federal Ministers; sent a questionnaire to party presidents and party leaders; and written letters/briefs to all outlining federal policies and laws which we believe need to be addressed -- in particular, how those policies, practices, and laws affect seniors.

Many of the issues we have been raising have, in turn, been pursued by other seniors' groups, locally and nationally. I like to think that we have had some influence on policies the parties have espoused during the campaign. For example:

The Conservative party has announced it would increase seniors' personal pension deductions from $1000 to $2000 (and eventually to $2500); promised the establishment of a Seniors' Council to advise the Minister responsible for seniors' issues (something we have been "pursuing" for the past year); indicated that there would be no new taxes on income trusts; would allow income splitting for seniors; and would double the size of the caregiver's tax credit to cover $7000 of allowable expenses.

The Liberal party has stated that it will increase tax benefits by 2.2% as of January 2006; raise the threshold of $8600 in annual income before taxation to $10,000. They will increase to $22,000 annual RRSP contributions and eliminate the Foreign Content Rule from investments (the old rate was 30% of a portfolio). They will increase the Guaranteed Income Supplement to a maximum of $400 (single person) and $700 (couple) by 2007; increase the annual budget for the New Horizons Programme (a programme for activities in the voluntary sector) from $12.5 million to $25 by 2007-2008; spend $13 million over 5 years to establish a new National Seniors Secretariat and commit up to $1 billion over the next 5 years to help provinces implement a family caregiver support strategy. They will double to $10,000 the amount of medical and disability-related expenses which may be claimed on behalf of a dependant relative; and implement a National Home Care Programme which would provide home care services for post-acute patients, including coverage for medication and rehabilitation services, home mental health care management, and palliative home care services (dedicating $2 billion over 5 years to the National Home Care Programme).

The New Democratic Party has promised it will implement public or non-profit-based home care throughout Canada; review the adequacy of Canada's pension system to develop more-effective ways for enhancing income security for seniors; phase in a Pharmacare programme to help Canadians afford drugs they need (including those required as a result of a "catastrophic illness"); pay for drugs for home treatment where those same drugs are covered in hospital treatment; implement a national bulk buying programme for drugs; outlaw "evergreen" prescription drugs which delay the availability of cheaper, generic drugs; pay 25% of provincial health care costs from federal revenues; and work with the provinces to establish more community-based clinics to handle health problems.

Of particular note in the foregoing points is the establishment and operation of a national seniors' advisory committee and a Seniors' Secretariat within the national government. A national voice for seniors has been of particular interest to ACER-CART and many other national seniors' organizations. The key element here is the funding of the national committee. If the advisory committee is to be effective, financial support for its operation is of primary importance (perhaps seniors will get grants and services similar to that of the national status of women organizations). We continue to work with and within the Congress of National Seniors' Organizations to promote the funding of the seniors' advisory committee. For more information on this, please contact the Director for your region or our web site's "Articles" section (the brief to the Commons Standing Committee on Finance).

Within the past month, our Executive Director (Pierre Drouin) forwarded the ACER-CART "Quarterly Report" to all Directors. I believe that your Director either has or soon will be making much of that information available to the member organizations and will not repeat these data here.

Once again, I wish you all a happy and restful 2006.

Patrick Brady - President
ACER-CART

Hats Off to Our Chapters

Regina Chapter Celebrates the Centennial

Terry Gabriel

The Regina Chapter of the STS hosted a celebration of the Centennial on Wednesday afternoon, October 5, 2005 at the Performing Arts Center. More than 550 guests enjoyed a musical comedy entitled The Little Red Schoolhouse. The cast of thirty superannuates ably walked the audience through "A look back in time - One Hundred Years of Teaching in Saskatchewan". Based on historical fact, the play touched four main eras: The One Room School House, The Depression and the War Years, The Post-War Boom, and Modern Times in the Classroom.

The audience was treated to two hours of whimsy, music, and history.

In attendance were guests from several outside chapters, Regina's mayor, Pat Fiacco, and STS president, Horst Sawatzki.

The performance ended with a superior rendition of the "Centennial Song" sung by all the members of the cast, the props people, vocalists, musicians, hospitality group, make-up artist, and anyone else who contributed to making this a very successful and memorable event. Refreshments were served to all the guests.
